

Sewage Disposal Not Exactly New Problem Goes Back 4500 Years

Sewage disposal, a subject that has been much in the public mind in Tinley Park for some time, is not something new. Many persons are of the opinion that sewers are a fairly recent creation of man, something that dates back only a couple of centuries, while probably a greater number have a hazy idea that sewers came into being sometime around the War between the states.

Well, that's wrong. While archeologists may look upon sewers as modern devices, most people will stand ready to consider them quite ancient indeed in view of the fact that sewer systems were in use some 4,500 years ago.

J. E. Meers, superintendent of the Bloom township sanitary district who addressed a combined meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions club in Tinley last week on sewers and sewerage treatment, said probes into the past show there were many communities with sewer systems 45 hundred years ago that would shame many cities of comparable size today.

For instance, investigation at the ruins of Eshunna, 50 miles to the north of Baghdad, revealed sewers of brick that were connected to water flushed latrines in homes, and Eshunna is a place that dates back to 2500 B. C.

At the same time, records show, homes on the island of Crete had bathrooms, with water under pressure, and the community also as served with both sanitary and storm sewers, some thing that few towns can boast of today. In some ruins in Crete, Mr. Meers said, the drains still function despite the fact they are 4,500 years old.

Hamburg, Germany is credited with being the first city of modern times to recognize the need of an adequate sewage system. An Englishman was commissioned to design a system for that city in 1842. Mr. Meers said. Some five years later an outbreak of Asiatic cholera showed London the need of pure drinking water. Little is known of early systems in the U. S., according to Mr. Meers, but Chicago is said to have built the first comprehensive system in the nation in 1855.

Discovery of the typhoid germ in 1880 brought to light the relation between pollution and disease. Bacteriology was in its infancy and its application to stream pollution and sewage disposal had not been grasped.

The first scientific studies in sewage treatment were begun in 1887, at an experimental station at Lawrence, Mass., Mr. Meers said. "The first extensive treatment plant was installed two years later, at Worcester.

"So it is only within the last half century that cities have been able to construct sewage systems that both satisfactorily dispose of sewage wastes and scientifically protect the water supply.

"Many cities and towns of considerable size are still in need of adequate means of caring for this problem. Presently we have some 6,000 sewage treatment plants in the United States, of which 2,500 are not adequate to meet the needs of the communities they serve. Today, there is need for 8,000 new treatment plants."

CHEST REPORT

Complete report of the Community chest drive in Mokena has just been released showing the collections amounted to $446.25. The drive was sponsored by the Mokena Lions club, Ramon Westlund, president, assisted by William Blaha and the following women: Mrs. Buechel, John Hubler, Fred Lehmann, Will Barenz, Ramon Westlund, Andy Barr, Fred Ricketts, Charles Florey, Grace Alexander, Bert Janner, Leroy Harling, Ray Heelehan and Charles Hostert.

The Lions club committee is grateful to those who helped in making the drive a success.

Success nowadays is making more money to pay the taxes you would not be paying if you had not made so much money already.

If a pipe-freeze should occur in your home, there are several solutions. First, examine the pipe to see if it has cracked from the pressure of the expanding ice. If not, then soak some towels in hot water and apply them to the frozen pipe. Repeat until the block is dissolved. Also, you may melt the ice by pouring boiling water down the clogged drain. Don't use electrical appliances of any kind to remove the ice. Electricity, metal and water can be a highly dangerous combination.

Sam Campbell, billed as "the philosopher of the forest," and who is one of the greatest sales men in the north woods ever had is to show one of his favorite color films at New Lenox, at 8 pm, Dec. 5 in the Haven grade school.

The entertainment is being sponsored by the PTA of Haven school.

Sam Campbell has been showing travel films and talking about the out of doors for the past 24 years and has been seen and heard many times in this area where he is quite popular and his shows are well attended.

Campbell is employed by the Northwestern railway system so that his pictures and lectures are available to churches, schools and civic groups for "nix," if one may borrow a word from Varian, which of course makes the deal quite attractive as all of the proceeds thus go to the sponsoring agency.

Sam's latest picture is "The Allure of the North Woods," which is designed to show audiences what he sees in the forest to draw his unvarying devotion. It is a program for the entire family.

Sam Campbell also has a new book just out, his tenth, and many readers believe it to be his best. It's "Fiddlesticks and Freckles," described as "the forest frolics of two funny fawns."

Sandburg Corn Judging Team Wins State Title

Five Charles Sandburg students and Carl Moore, agriculture teacher, carried off all top honors in the corn-judging contest held at Lincoln, Ill., last Thursday.

The Sandburg team, which is made up of LeRoy Bormet, Darrel Erickson, Edward Siemsen and Earle Bettenhausen, competed against 17 district winners from all over the state and scored a tremendous total of 488 out of a possible 500 points.

The team won its way into the finals by carrying off the district title in the competition that was held at Naperville a month ago. The members also carried off individual honors there, just as they did at Lincoln.

In the state contest LeRoy Bormet finished second in individual judging and Darrel Erickson, third.

Also to bring credit to the school was Ray Utne who won the reserve championship with his corn, which he grew as part of his school project.

Winning the state contest gives the Sandburg team a chance at the national title. Their score will be forwarded to the International Hay and Grain judging contest, and if their score remains high, the national will come to them. According to the experts 488 is an unusually high score and has an excellent chance for national honors.

The team was presented with a trophy for winning the district title and another for carrying off the state championship.

In addition to the team trophies each of the boys was presented with a gold wrist watch, as was Mr. Moore. The watches are to be engraved. Ray Utne also came home with trophies.

Presentation of the trophies and prizes took place at an assembly in the school last Friday, and the winners received much applause and many congratulations.

Playing Picker Dangerous Sport

If one "plays the horses" and loses, it's money down the drain. But when one "plays the picker" and loses, he may lose both money and a finger, hand or arm, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

When one tries to clean or adjust a picker while its running, he's betting a hand, an arm or maybe even his life to save a couple of minutes.

One does the same thing when he doesn't put the power take-off shield on the picker. The few minutes it takes to attach shields can save many dollars and months of time if it prevents an accident.

The smart better, and the wise farmer, won't put up something so valuable as a hand when the most he can gain is a minute or two.

Capture Rollaway Gorilla

Tinley Park Police Officers Peter Seeley (left) and Wilbert Mager had no difficulty whatsoever in subduing this gorilla at the grand opening of Tinley's new skating rink. The "gorilla," who is Jim Lomax, of Harvey, when in his regular attire, was a bit weary from his antics about the rink and was quite willing to take time out for anything. The trainer, at the extreme right, is in disguise too. The trainer is Ruth Lang, of Orland Park.

Writer Looks Back on Armistice That Ended First World War

JOHN W. ALLEN

Southern Illinois University
The legitimate word reminiscence and a coined one "reminisance" sound somewhat alike and, furthermore, often are suggestive of each other. The author of this series of articles, long conscious of this connotation, vowed to avoid reminiscing. This one time he willfully ignores that resolve, and here is why.

Perhaps it is the fact that last Friday was Armistice Day that causes some of us to pause and scan two large bronze tablets in the foyer of the auditorium at Southern Illinois University. These tablets carry the names of those who had been students at Southern before serving in the armed forces during World War I. To many they are only columns of names. With some of us, however, the names there arouse many memories of those listed.

A good half of the people now living in our nation had not been born when that first Armistice Day came in Nov. 11, 1918. Older persons will recall the manner in which the people in their communities observed the day when the war ended. Our country had not seen more spontaneous and general celebration. Bells were rung, guns were fired, whistles blew, women wept, men became almost hysterical, churches held services, papers issued extras, and parades were formed. Millions thus gave vent to their pent up feelings. While those "back home" were doing all this, what were men at the front doing?

I would like to reminisce a bit and tell of the activities of the group of which I was a member on that somewhat distant day, or rather, on the evening of that day. I was then a member of the Sixth Regiment of U. S. Marines. In the several months preceding that night, our brigade had been severely mauled.

For about two weeks preceding Armistice it had been on the front. On Nov. 11, 1918, it was deployed over the hillsides near Beaumont, France, and was preparing to cross the Meuse river. In fact, some units had already crossed on a small pontoon foot bridge and had established a bridgehead. Only a few had crossed, however. Before it was time for the others to follow, the Armistice became effective. Such was our position when the day came to its close.

Our platoon was in an apple orchard near the wreckage of some farm buildings. It was here that we were ordered to bivouac for the night. Using an apple tree for our anchor post, Albert Ullum from Akron, O.; Tom Greely from Fayetteville, Pa.; and I combined our equipment and set up a pup tent using excelsior found among the wreckage of a nearby building as bedding. It was a comfortable camp we had.

Having pitched our tent, we decided to build a fire—the first one we had built for several weeks. This fire proved about quite an attractive innovation. It was liberally stoked and the circle about it enlarged. Planks from the wreckage of a nearby barn were brought and laid upon the ground for seats. Forty or more men, a somewhat motley group, came to sit about our fire.

Was it a noisy or boisterous gathering? It was not. It was a very quiet and sober one. One fraught with mixed emotions. The play of light on the faces of those peering into the campfire remains a vivid picture. We relaxed and found that we were very tired. We sat about the fire and talked in quiet, almost hushed tones. One sentence was heard over and over. Slightly varied in expression, it always said, "It's all over now, and we can go home." In quiet tones one would hear such remarks as, "How I wish Harper could be here tonight." With only changes of names this was repeated with other names like Olson, Stephens, Kirk, Wilson, Carponi, and Kelley, the nickname by which the Russian boy with the unpronounceable name was known.

But It Wasn't Finished

We that sat about the fire on the hillside that overlooked the Meuse river on that night were possessed of two basic thoughts. There was a clamor of happiness that came because we felt that the war was ended. We now felt sure that we were going home. The disagreeable task had been completed, we thought, and we were going back to pick up the patterns of our life where we had laid them down several months before. Those thoughts were the happy ones. Mingled with those thoughts, however, were the memories of our comrades who had not lived to reach that evening. Many of the absent ones had died gloriously for an ideal of peace and security for the world.

I do not believe that it would have been good for anyone to have stood before our group and to have said, "Your comrades have died in vain. Out of this same now restful and peaceful countryside—a war that will make this one seem insignificant—a war fought with almost unbelievable but brutalities and with implements more diabolical than any now known—a war revealing depths of depravity of which you now can scarcely conceive—a war knowing no law beyond the whims and caprice of a mad man."

We would have scoffed at such a statement. The entire world would have scoffed. No one would have believed it. Nevertheless, it would have had much that is true.

Millions of persons over the world paused for a moment at 11 o'clock on this Armistice Day while the thoughts of the older ones went back to the first such day.

Pork Chops with Apple Stuffing - Now Pass the Reducing Pills

Pork and apples have a way of bringing a family to the table on time, and now is the time to serve them because they're both plentiful, says Dorothy Figge, University of Illinois foods specialist.

Why not treat your family to a fall dinner of pork chops with apple stuffing soon. You'll need thick cut chops for this.

Cut along the rib bone and into the meat, making a pocket for the stuffing. Then fill each pocket with a generous supply of thin apple slices. Brown the chops, cover and cook slowly for 45 minutes to an hour.

The next time you serve apples, quarters them and brown in pork drippings. Or try a casserole. Brown the chops and put them into a casserole with apples and sweet potatoes. Cover and bake at 350 degrees F. for an hour.

Typical American names found in Antarctica include: Mollilo Bay, Wallgreen Coast, Edsel Ford Range, Rockefeller Mountains, Wrigley Gulf, Beaumont Bay, Cape Washington, and of course, Little America.

Believe Milk Prices at Peak for Dairy Farmers; Get 8c a Quart

Chicago dairy farmers will be paid three cents a hundredweight over the September price for milk delivered to the Chicago market during October.

The price of Grade A milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat delivered to the 70-mile zone is $3.88 per cent. This is approximately 8 cents a quart.

The price for October milk is 24 cents above October 1954.

The milk prices were announced last week by the Federal Milk Market Administrator's office in Chicago. During October, dairy companies paid around 9 cents a quart for milk used for bottling purposes. Harry Edwards, head of the marketing department for Pure Milk Association, said that the October prices may be the high point during the present year. Milk prices generally reach a peak in October or November. He said that there are several indications in the market that point toward lower prices.

Milk production over most of the past year has been decreasing in comparison with the same period a year earlier. In September the total milk production for the Chicago market showed a 3 million pound increase over September 1954. The October figures indicate that milk production was 13 million pounds over October 1954.

Milk production also reflects a seasonal pattern. Fall months are the low point in production. This year the low point was reached in September. October showed an increase.

Edwards said that milk production is starting its seasonal increase at a faster rate than last year.

While production has speeded up, the sales of milk continue to show an increase Edwards said.

Plans Awards for Best Designs in Buildings

Honor awards for excellence in architectural design of building constructed in the Chicago metropolitan area since Jan. 1, 1951, will be presented at a civic pride luncheon on Tuesday, April 17, in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel.

The honor awards program, which provides civic recognition for outstanding examples of architectural design and the related arts and craftsmanship, is sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, American Institute of Architects.

Last year's initial program culminated in the presentation of awards to 64 architects, building owners, contractors, and building trades craftsmen at a civic luncheon in April. Entries for the 1956 honor awards program will be accepted for the following categories: public buildings and monuments; institutional buildings, including educational, hospitals, and churches; commercial buildings, industrial buildings; residential buildings, including houses and apartments; miscellaneous buildings; and rehabilitation and alterations.

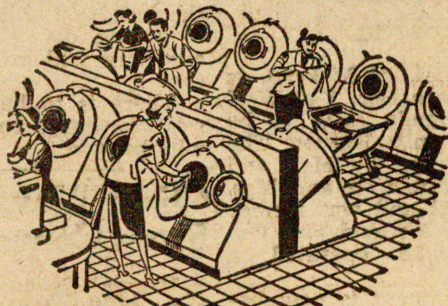

All buildings entered or recommended for consideration must be designed by architects practicing professionally and duly licensed by the state of Illinois.

Entries or recommendations that a building be considered for one of the awards should be submitted between Dec. 1, 1955, and January 17, 1956, to Bertam A. Weber, chairman, honor awards committee, Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects, 53 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4.

The spread of Dutch elm disease this year to 18 Illinois counties hitherto regarded as free from this sort of infestation has been reported by a plant pathologist of the state natural history survey.

Laboratory tests confirm the presence of the disease for the first time in DuPage, Kendall, Grundy, La Salle, Putnam, Marshall, Tazewell, Logan, Menard, Schuyler, Scott, Macoupin, Randolph, Perry, Union, Williamson, Washington and Cumberland counties.

The widening infestation has been held in check in some localities by prompt removal of all elm wood which could furnish breeding places for the European elm beetle, and by spraying with special formulations of DDT.

Arden Baie of Waterman had a return of $220 for every $100 he spent for feed from his 20-cow dairy herd in 1954, compared with a return of $144, lowest in 22 years, for all members in Illinois dairy herd improvement associations.

Mokena Girl Scouts
Troop No. 40 held an investiture Monday for two new girl scouts, Betty Boyson and Sharon Bottema. RESTORATION PROJECT
Girl Scout leaders of Mokena are invited to assist financially with the restoration of the home of Juliette Low, the Founder of Girl Scouting in the USA, announced Mrs. Rudolph Engelhardt, neighborhood chairman. The home of Mrs. Low is being restored with the idea of making it a unique center for Girl Scouting in the United States. It will be, when finished, something special like "Our Chalet" in Switzerland, the "Ark" of the English Girl Guides, "La Ne" of the French Guides, and the "Cabana" now under construction in Mexico, explained Mrs. Engelhardt.

Here in Mokena the leaders, troop committee members and any other registered Girl Scout adults are invited to bring or mail their gift to the Trailways Girl Scout Council Office, 4 E. Clinton street, Room 300, Joliet Building, Joliet, before Nov. 30. Miss Van Alstine, Council President, said that all money received will be sent down in the name of Trailways.

It has been suggested that if each adult will contribute a dollar, the council's goal of $1,300 will be easily met. Also, it is a request that will be made only this once. It is estimated that $500,000 is needed to restore and maintain Mrs. Low's home which is a typical southern mansion located in Savannah, Ga.

Common Learnings

The first party of the senior common learnings course was completed last week. His phase of the year's work was under the direction of Mrs. Florence Butler, home economics teacher.

During the first nine weeks study, the students covered such topics as understanding ourselves, getting along with others, meeting problems and dating and marriage. Outstanding resource people presented talks based on their actual experiences which stimulated a great deal of thinking.

Among the people who talked to the group were: The Rev. Ralph Miller, Pastor New Lenox Methodist church; Farther Denis, St. Jude's Catholic church, New Lenox; Dr. Otto, physician, Frankfort; Albert Krusemark, attorney, Frankfort; Everett Cooper, banker and real estate agent, Mokena; A. Hunter Chapman, principal Lincoln-Way; John Pease, police officer, Frankfort; and H. Neil Hardy, teacher Lincoln-Way.

A field trip to family court in Chicago is being planned for Dec. 7, 8 and 9.

AIR STEWARDESS SPEAKS

By Anita McMakon

Miss Nadine Goehring, a stewardess from Trans-World Airlines, spoke to the members of the FBLA Thursday on her career.

TWA's training school is in Kansas City. There the trainee learns first aid, beauty and make-up, how to handle all types of passengers and something about the plane in addition to numerous routine duties.

Girls may be hired if between the ages of 21 and 28. They must have a pleasing personality, be physically attractive and reasonably intelligent. Glasses may not be worn on flights. A young lady who is married is not permitted to be a stewardess since much of her flying time is spent away from home. The average length of service is fourteen months with the majority of the girls quitting in order to be married.

Salaries start at $235 a month with periodic increases. Extra allowances are made for time spent when a flight is delayed when the plane is away from its home base.

Each stewardess is given four passes a year which may be used by her immediate family or by herself.

A hostess is allowed only 80 hours of flying a month. When she has enough seniority, she may get an international flight to Paris or other far-away places.

Miss Goehring pointed out that there are also unglamorous aspects to her career. Motor troubles, severe weather conditions, ill or emotional passengers, are only some of the difficulties she must be able to cope with.

There are opportunities as stewards for boys which pay very good salaries.

Who's a Book Worm?

At the midpoint of the first semester, a survey of school library users shows that 75 per cent of the student enrollment has checked out one or more library books. Many of the students have such full schedules that there is no opportunity during the day to use the library. Because of this, there is usually a booming business in the morning before the first period class with borrowers checking out and returning books. The same is true after 3:40 when people who don't have to catch the first bus use the extra time to select their reading materials.

A rather unofficial reading record is being kept this year to see what and how many the student are reading. Thus far, Ed Zitter, a sophomore from Lincoln Estates, leads the field in the number of books read. To date he has completed forty-five, which appears to be a pretty good start on all other contenders.

Incidentally, Ed is also a student librarian, the only boy who serves in the capacity of No. 1 assistant to Mrs. Welch.

NUMBER LOVER'S CORNER

If it would be possible to have a sheet of paper large enough so that you could tear in half, place the halves together and tear it again fifty times, how high would the pile of paper be when the thickness of the paper is .001 inch?

Here are the answers to last week's problems:

1. The figures are arranged like this.
2. 23 is the total. 14, 7, 4, 3-23

Camera Club

By Terry Marshall

Mr. Hardy has started showing the boys in Camera Club how to develop film. Each of the boys is being charged a darkroom fee of $1.25, which pays for all solutions. There is a special fee for printing paper. All members are allowed to use the darkroom during their assigned periods.

Due to the unfavorable weather conditions, high winds, rain and fog, all flying activities of the club were called off on Sunday, October 30, and again on Nov. 6. This was the second unsuccessful attempt of the members to have an afternoon.

A few of the members with the assistance of Mr. Ellerman are in the process of rebuilding a glider plane, which will be used in teaching the fundamentals of flying to club members.

Co-Rec Night

Wednesday, November 16th another co-recreation night was held at Lincoln-Way from 7:00-9:00 p.m. It was sponsored by Mr. Kruzich and the International Arts club which served doughnuts and pop during the intermissions.

The students participated in basketball, volleyball, ping-pong, badminton, and quilts. Square dancing was an added attraction with Miss Sprayberry, the girls' gym instructor, as caller. She presented a variety of fast moving dances and colorful calls.

The co-rec night was well attended by the students, which will encourage many more co-rec nights in the future.

Industrial progress is the key that has opened up to Americans that greater share of security, economic independence, leisure, good housing and good schools that people have dreamed of for themselves and their children since the beginning of recorded history. All this has been possible because we are not afraid of progress, and because all of us have shared in it.

Carl Sandburg Opens Cage Season Tonight

Will Meet Minooka in First Tilts; Varsity Has Height, Speed

Carl Sandburg high school opens its second basketball season tonight, Nov. 23, when it travels to Minooka for a brace of games.

Coach John Jorstead has but three lettermen back from last year's team which won 14 games while losing 13, but his 1955-56 squad has more height than last year's outfit, and seems to have more speed.

Those who have been watching the workouts say that Sandburg fans should see some good basketball this season.

The lettermen, all seniors, are Bob Kaehr, Don Gee and Ron Weingartner. Two other seniors also are back again this fall, Al Reeve and Dave Anderson. Juniors who are competing for berths on the team include, Bill Beck, Lee Marten, Craig Reuter, Chuck Berryman, Darrell Erickson, Dick Munch, Paul Litke, Bob Jeffries, Meador Hill and Pat Flavin.

The Eagles will travel to Bremen Dec. 2 for their first home game will be Dec. 3, when Blue Island will make its appearance at Sandburg.

The frosh-soph squad has but one letterman back, Bernie Partoll, but Coach Bill Adams says that he has a number of sophomores that have been looking good in practice, including Al Kara, Mark Hill, Dennis Graninger, Ted Allen, Jay Morlock and Richard Aird.

Last year Sandburg's frosh-soph crew dropped but one game and indications point to another good season.

The frosh-soph will play their first game tonight preceding the varsity tilt at Minooka and will also play before the varsity game at Bremen on Dec. 2, but on Dec. 3 they will play at Rich, in the morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Season tickets for all home basketball games have been placed on sale for the first time in the history of the school. These tickets may be purchased at the high school or at Kirk's grill in Orland Park and the Palos Heights pharmacy in the Palos area.

There are 10 home games and adults will save a dollar, it was pointed out, by getting a season ticket.

L-W Basketball Teams Divide Double Bill

By Denning Wheeler
The Lincoln-Way Knights basketball team ran up against a tough Plainfield crew last Friday night and lost 55-42 in the opening game of the season. The L-W frosh-soph, however, won their game 43-29.

The Knights outscored the Wildcats by five point in the second half but a bad second quarter ruined the evening for the Red and Black.

The game started off with a bang as the Knights grabbed the tip-off jump and scored a boom-boom on Paul Padzukas' 15-foot jump shot. The Wildcats retaliated quickly, however, and pulled off to an 8-4 lead before Ron Studnicki potted a pair of set shots to knot it up. At the quarter, the Plainfield five held a scant 13-10 edge and decided to do something about it. They changed from the slow cautious type of play to a fast break and piled up points until they held a 36 to 18 lead at half time.

Meet Peotone Tonight
However, after the intermission the Knights came roaring back and pulled within 11 points on some spectacular marksmanship by Mark Schellenburg, L-W's crafty guard. But Plainfield tightened up and the rest of the game was a see-saw affair with neither team able to progress much. The score stood 55-52 when the final buzzer sounded.

Big Danny Wondrasek played a fine game, but unfortunately, he fouled out early in the second half. Bill "Shiek" Heidrich also played a good steady game at forward, playing the whole game without substitution.

All in all, the Knights 1955-56 debut was not a total flop and with the clearing up of a few ragged edges, they should prove a fine match for the Peotone crew they face tonight at Lincoln-Way.

Frosh Perform Well
In the curtain raver the Lincoln-Way frosh-soph squar whopped the Plainfielder crew 43 to 29.

The Little Knights showed some fine teamwork on offense and a very effective zone defense. It was a terrific ball game that saw the Red and Black pull away in the fourth quarter after a tight first half.

The Wildcats of Plainfield started off hard and ran up an 8-4 margin in the first quarter. However, the Knights got moving and tied it up at 10 apiece. From the point on until midway in the third period, it was a back-and-forth battle with neither team able to boast much of an advantage. In the third frame Lincoln-Way took a commanding lead and held it.

Sophomore Ron Fredin, led the individual scoring with 20 points. Don Carter poured in 10 and Eddie Donaldson added 8. Dave Zechlin, Ken Weber and Carter did an effective job on rebounds.

The Little Knights face an all-ways tough Peotone aggregation tonight at the Lincoln-Way gym.

Sportabout

by JACK MAYPOLE

With cold weather really getting into gear, the duck hunter can expect to meet the problem of ice keeping him away from his favorite hideout among the rushes.

He can solve this problem easily if he wants to put in a little work on his boat. It is understood, of course, that a solid boat hull is essential.

Large wooden boats are best because they can be more easily converted. First step is to cover the prow with aluminum or tin so the wood won't get splintered by the jagged edges of the ice.

Then build up the sides and bow of the boat from six inches to a foot to protect from wind and spray. Add an outboard with plenty of soup with the 25-30 horsepower category preferred.

With this equipment a hunter should be able to break through any ice that is likely to form before the duck season ends.

When you take off into icy waters, here are a few tips to make the trip a safe one.

Check the weather at an official source. Don't get caught in a blizzard where you risk injury or possible death.

Get some red signal flares if you are going to chance stormy weather. Carry a flashlight, a first aid kit and plenty of matches in a watertight case.

If the motor won't start and you suspect condensed moisture has frozen in the carburetor, don't resort to fire heat to warm it up. Just cup the carburetor bowl in your hands for a little while. That will do the trick and you won't come home in a basket, if at all.

Sandburg Grapplers Lose Team Match to Morgan Park; 27-17

A record crowd for wrestling at Carl Sandburg was reported last Thursday night when more than 300 turned out to see the Eagle grapplers match their hoists against a team from Morgan Park Military academy.

The Eagles built up an early lead of 17 to 10 but the cadets began to click and from then on to the end Sandburg failed to add another point. The matches ended with Morgan Park winning 27 to 17.

The next matches on the Sandburg home mats were held last night, Nov. 22, with the Eagles hosts to Bishop Noll high school of Hammond.

Then on Dec. 2, after school at 4 o'clock, Sandburg wrestlers will be hosts to the team from Bremen.

Results of the Sandburg-Morgan Park matches:

Farmers Can Make Application For Corn Loans Now

The Will county ASC is now ready to take 1955 crop (corn) loan applications.

Conrad Borms, office manager says in order to be eligible for a corn loan the producer must be with in his 1955 corn acreage allotment. Mr. Borms states the support price on the 1955 crop as $1.61 for No. 3 corn or better.

Mr. Borms wishes to emphasize to the farmer's of Will county to report their ASP practice as soon as possible after completion.

Mr. Borms also says any farmer wishing to share cost come to the office and make application.

Applications can still be made for the 1955 program and that there is a considerable amount of funds still available.

Chemistry teachers used to astound their students by saying that the chemical content of a human body was worth just about 98 cents—a rather humiliating thought. But today, in the atomic age, were informed that the atoms in the body of an average person contain a potential energy of more than 11 million kilowatt hours per pound, making the most us worth something like $85.3 billion apiece!

Prayer is Real Thanksgiving

By John J. Kenny, Editor of the Paulist Feature Service
Have you ever seen a faint smile appear on the face of a person when the word "prayer" is mentioned? To many people prayer is nothing more than a superstitious practice, a relic of medieval times. The very idea of a puny human being attempting to coax the powers of the universe seems ridiculous. Such a practice, they think, can serve only to debase a man.

Many think that devout people are childish and immature. They are like whining children who come running to the mother whenever the slightest thing goes wrong. Unable to stand on their own two feet, they want to lean on God.

But this impression is only a caricature. Prayer is really the lifting of the mind and heart to God. Prayer ennobles a man. All of us are completely dependent on God and the man who thinks he can stand alone is sadly mistaken.

The saints were men of prayer. Many of them, following the example of their Master, spent whole nights in prayer. Even today, we find men and women who dedicate their entire lives in prayer. Such people are not cowards or weaklings. They are men and women of the highest caliber.

The Pilgrim Fathers were men of this type. They were men of prayer. They realized their complete dependence on God and did not hesitate to acknowledge it.

Perhaps our difficulty is that we have too much of the "gimme" in prayer. "Give me this, give me that." "O Lord, I need this; O Lord, I want that." We fail to appreciate how important it is that we give God our love and adoration first.

The pilgrims did not forget. Things were hard that first year when they tried to eke out a bare subsistence from the stubborn, rocky soil of New England. They had troubles with the Indians, they had trouble with disease, they had trouble with the unfamiliar cold.

But they stayed. In spite of everything they stayed. And they thanked God for helping

The Good News
Lesson for November 27, 1955

THERE is no such thing as the Christian religion, except in human beings. There is no such thing as the growth of Christianity, unless it grows in people. So how does Christianity spread? Only by one way: people who are Christians must win people who are not Christians. People who know Jesus Christ must introduce other people to him. The church has a word for this: it is called Evangelism. Anybody who thinks Dr. Foreman he doesn't believe in evangelism is really saying that he doesn't care whether there are any new Christians or not. He is saying (though perhaps without realizing it) that what he calls his "faith" is not worth talking about, or recommending to any one else.

Preaching and Bringing—
Our rather technical word "Gospel" means simply "Good News." That is what it is called in the New Testament. Not good advice, or good answers to philosophers' riddles; just good news—about God, about Jesus, about destiny. Luke gives us some interesting and valuable hints about how this Good News was broadcast in Jesus' own time and by his direction. One is in three words (Luke 8:1): Jesus came "preaching and bringing" the good news of the kingdom of God. The Gospel is not something just for talk. A tape-recorder can give out a sermon; but a tape-recorder cannot be a preacher of the Gospel. A minister who preaches on Sunday and disappears the rest of the week (if such there be) may be preaching the Gospel but he is not bringing it. Jesus lived by what he preached. The good news can be told by a clever tongue; but it can be brought only by a consecrated life. What would be thought of a grocery store where, if you went in, you would see only empty shelves, and a flock of clerks who would button-hole you and tell you all about the wonderful groceries—that aren't there! And what can one think of a church where all you can find out about the love of God is just talk, and nobody brings the Gospel? The Gospel can't be brought in a little parcel you can tuck under your arm like a prayer-book. It has to be brought in a man-sized package, a live sample. After a few months you can buy a "demonstrator" car or tractor cheap; but a "demonstrator" Christian is beyond price.

Seed and Soils
You would think that if we could only get Jesus Christ in person, as he was in Galilee, into our church, we could convert everybody. Well, he didn't. No one ever brought or preached the Gospel better than he; but he did not meet with 100% success. He gave a reason for this that any farmer or gardener can understand. Preaching the Gospel is like sowing seed, he said. Sometimes when you look at two fields you may find it hard to believe that the same seed was sown in both; but so it was. The difference is in the soils. In Hutchinson, Kansas, there is a grain elevator with a capacity of ten million bushels of wheat. Every bushel in the hundreds of bins can be traced back to the area where it grew. On the wall in the testing-laboratory of that elevator there is a map of Kansas, county by county; and the kind of wheat each county is producing, this year, is marked there. The same seed wheat, in different counties or in different parts of the same county, may have different protein content or vary in number of bushels to the acre. So some people are better Gospel-soil than others.

To Preach and to Heal
When Jesus sent out his disciples to preach, he sent them to heal too. Health is the church's business. Whatever affects man's health of body, mind or soul, that is the church's affair. When she preaches and brings the Gospel, she has no right to say, "What we preach is only for your soul." The good news about God has transformed whole communities, it has changed the world for women, for children, for slaves, for downtrodden minorities. A gospel which is only for souls is not the Gospel Jesus preached and brought.

End Is Near for Old Style Records

The phonograph record familiar to more than a generation of listeners is on the way to oblivion. Early next year at least one major company will stop cutting 78's—those records which revolve around a turn table 78 times per minute, according to "Changing Times." But watch the progress of the record making only 16 revolutions. It is used mostly for "talking books" now, but it is about to catch on for other types of material, too. A new record player installed in automobiles uses 16 exclusively.

In February 1947, during flight operations of Operation HIGHJUMP, U.S. Navy flight crews discovered warm lakes in the Antarctic in an area where the ice is known to be hundreds of feet deep.

buy" in flowers. One reason is that they keep so long as cut flowers or as potted plants. Then, too, they come in a wide variety of colors and types. Although more than 800 varieties are commonly listed in seed catalogues, Culbert says the search for more varieties continues. We still don't have all the kinds and colors of mums for certain seasons that we'd like to have, he says.

Getting back to some of those colorful names, the Illini Snowdrift was introduced in 1949. It is grown from California to Florida and from Minnesota to Texas. At the moment Culbert and his associates are trying to produce a yellow and pink Snowdrift.

The Illini Igloo made its appearance in 1952 and is widely grown today. The Illini Starflower came along last year and her sister, Illini Goldilocks, made her debut this year.

Mums are on display at garfield Park in Chicago and at the greenhouse on Gougar road in Pilsen Park at Joliet. A waterfall adds to the display at Joliet.

Fiberglass Pretty Stuff - But Fragile

From kitchen to bedroom you can use fiberglass curtains and draperies throughout your home. Manufacturers offer this fabric in various sizes and colors.

You can buy these curtains and draperies ready-made in department stores. Or you can buy the fabric and make them as you would any other curtains and draperies, says Florence King, University of Illinois textile specialist.

Fiberglass panels or ruffled curtains may look heavy when draped at a window, but this heaviness helps to make them hang evenly.

Fiberglass is woven from spun glass threads. It wears out easily because the threads cut each other when rubbed together. An oil treatment is being used in an effort to make the material wear better, but the oil attracts dust.

You'll like the way fiberglass resists insects, mildew and sun. It's also easy to launder, dries fast and never needs pressing.

Art Appreciation on 4-H Program for Next Year
Picture projects help 4-H girls appreciate art and supply it to their daily living.

These picture projects make up part of the 1956 4-H room improvement work, says Mary McKee, University of Illinois state 4-H staff member.

The projects are planned for two age groups. Members up to high school age learn about the artist and his life, while older members study the composition of the pictures and learn to frame and hang them.

The younger girls study prints in each of three projects, Pictures of the Out-of-Doors, Pictures of People and Pictures on Your Walls. They see how the artist uses line, color and harmony in his paintings.

Older group projects are "thru the eyes of the artist" and pictures for pleasure." In addition to framing and hanging pictures, these girls study the art of the United States and other countries.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
Man's need for spiritual alertness will be emphasized in the Lesson-Sermon "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, De-nounced" at Christian Science services Sunday, November 27.

Selections from the Bible will include the following from the Sermon on the Mount (Matt. 7:15-16): "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?"

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (134:28): "There is divine authority for believing in the superiority of spiritual power over material resistance."

The Golden text is from 1 Corinthians (16:13): "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."
